

1        156. (Amended) The method of claim 155 further including sampling 2        address information synchronously with respect to the external clock 3        signal.